What are you looking forward to this month?

WHALE SCULPTURE STOPS TRAIN FROM CRASHING INTO WATER

A Dutch train driver experienced a miraculous escape from injury when the train he was driving overran the stop blocks and looked to be heading for a disastrous crash. However, instead of plummeting into the water beneath the tracks, the train was stopped by a very fortunately placed whale sculpture! The train was left suspended in midair and the driver escaped unhurt.

RARE BLUE BEE IS FOUND IN FLORIDA

a rare metallic-blue bee, was only described for the first time in 2011. Little is known about the unusual way it collects pollen (bobbing its head), why it is blue, or its numbers. Florida Museum of Natural History is running a two-year study to document the species' feeding and nesting habits and estimate the population.

CARE HOME CREATES 'HUG TUNNEL'

A care home in southern Brazil decided to create a 'hug tunnel' in one of its entrances. A large, thick, clear plastic sheet with arm holes/sleeves on either side and at different heights for children and wheelchair users, it allows visitors and residents to embrace safely (after temperatures are checked, hands are sanitised and the sheet disinfected).

Can you draw a picture of the tunnel above?

LITTLE LESSON 4: KINDNESS IS CONTAGIOUS

Did you know kindness is just like a cold?
You can catch it and pass it on.

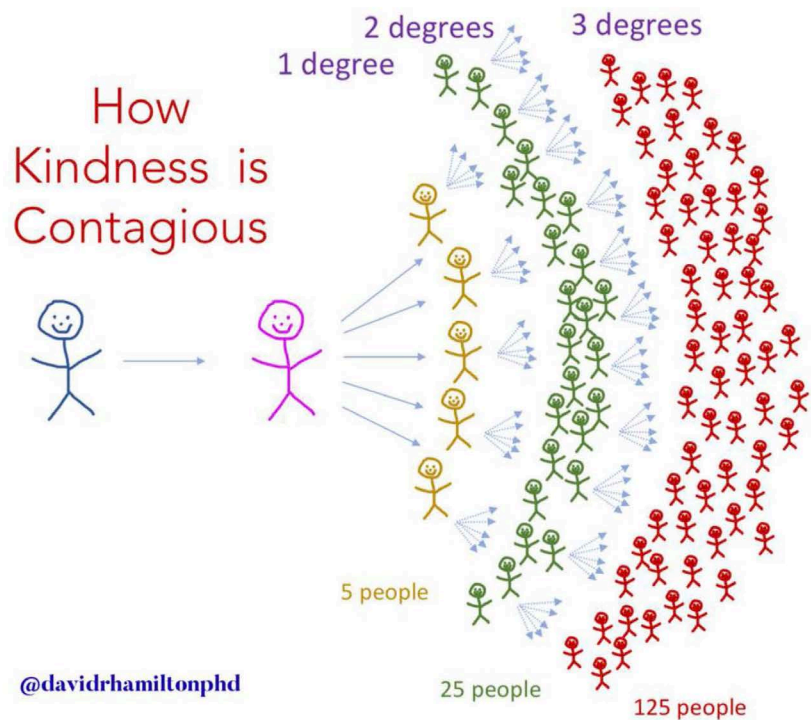

You might think you're just one small person, but you have the POWER to change the world. How? Because what you do is CONTAGIOUS!

Here's a real-life scientist, Dr David Hamilton to explain...

"Kindness has been shown to infect people who are 3 social steps away from you. And when I say 'infect', I mean causing others to feel good and inspiring kind behaviour in them.

When you are kind to someone, on average that person will be kind or kinder to 5 people over the rest of the day due to how you made them feel through your kindness. Those 5 are at 1 social step from you. But each of those 5 will be kind or kinder to 5 further people. That's 25 people at 2 social steps from you. But each of those 25 will be kind or kinder to 5 further people. That's 125 people at 3 social steps from you benefiting from the single kindness you did. So that's 125 people from one act of kindness."

Do you know what this means? It means YOUR ACTIONS MATTER and that YOU have the power to change the world with your kindness.

1. The Ripple Effect

- a) Fill a fairly large bowl with water. Tell your child that you are going to drop a pebble into water and ask them what they think they will see. Watch as ripples spread out when you drop the pebble. You can also ask your child to dip their finger in the water as this will create ripples too.
- b) In the bowl, the ripples spread to the edge of the bowl. But what would happen if the bowl was bigger? Ask your child if they've ever thrown a pebble into a lake? Discuss how in a lake, the ripples can spread out further than you can see.
- c) Explain that kindness spreads in the same way as the ripples. This is because when you are kind to someone it makes them want to be kind to someone else. This is called 'the ripple effect'. It's because of that ripple effect, that one act of kindness can spread really far!

Who has been kind to you recently?

What did they do that was kind?

MAKE A HAPPY MEMORIES JAR

Sometimes we don't notice the happy moments or easily forget them. So, next time something makes you happy or makes you laugh write it down and if you're ever feeling a little bit sad you can read them and remember your happy times.

(for example: eating my favourite ice cream, talking to my Grandma on the phone, receiving a lovely message from a friend)

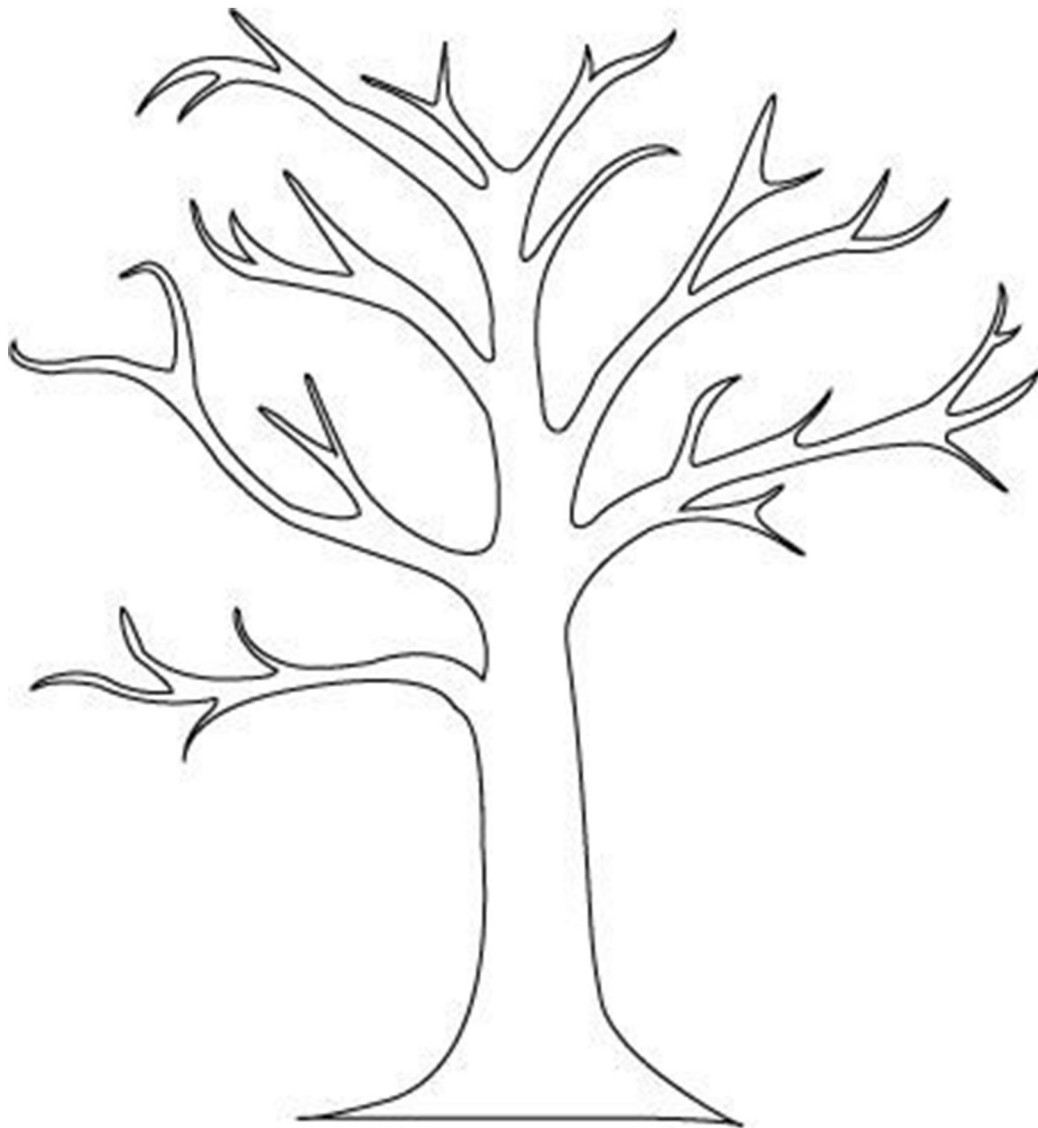

You could get a real jar and fill it up with notes or you could fill out the notes above and colour them in

Dreams

We all have them whether they are dreams we have when we go to sleep or dreams we have for the future. This is a dream tree, draw, paint or collage on some leaves and fill in the trunk along with 3-5 words or sentences that represent your hopes and dreams for the future.
